

Extracurricular Activities Autumn Term 2022 - 2023

Research indicates that participation in extracurricular activities positively correlates with pupils' development both academically and personally.

Pupils who participate in extracurricular activities:

- have greater levels of academic achievement
- improve their character development by giving them skills required for personal success, such as leadership skills, time-management skills, and the ability to accept constructive criticism
- have increased self-esteem and resiliency
- have cultivated their social development
- experience the importance of community involvement

The benefits include increased confidence, a real aspiration to go onto higher or further education, more soft skills and a sense of wellbeing and belonging. Playing team sports, doing voluntary work, joining a club or singing in a band are also vital in developing networks.

The following comments have been made publicly:

- "One of the best things about school is being able to try out new things, whether that's playing in the football team, learning to play the drums or joining the chess club."
- "Activities beyond the classroom inspire children to be part of a team, compete with others and give them a sense of pride."
- "For some, they help overcome shyness or a lack of confidence."
- "Extracurricular activities mean that pupils can learn soft skills such as listening to others, speaking well and problem solving."
